

CORPORATE COUNSEL WOMEN OF COLOR ANNOUNCES 2022 FELLOWSHIP AWARD WINNERS

NEW YORK, Feb. 1, 2022 /PRNewswire/ -- Corporate Counsel Women of Color® (CCWC), a non-profit professional organization for women attorneys of color, is pleased to announce the selection of twelve law students for its 2022 Diverse Student Mentor Fellowships. The students were selected from a group of applicants from across the nation. Selection criteria included grades, extracurricular activities and a personal essay. The students will receive one-on-one career mentoring from well-established attorneys over the course of the semester, as well as a stipend to cover the cost of books and educational materials.

Fellowship awardees and the schools they attend are:

- Detericka Chambers – Texas Southern University Thurgood Marshall School of Law
- Victoria Efetevia – Georgetown University Law Center
- Keniece Gray - Georgetown University Law Center
- Kayla S. Hope – University of Georgia School of Law
- Kelly Nguyen – Emory University School of Law
- Favour Okhuevia – Howard University School of Law
- Renisha Ricks – Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law
- Kayla S. Ryan – University of Alabama School of Law
- Kyra Sampson – Temple University Beasley School of Law
- Krysten Thomas - Georgetown University Law Center
- Simone Yhap – Northeastern University School of Law
- Jordan Zollicoffer – Marquette University Law School

In October, the Fellows will receive honorable mention at the CCWC 18th Annual Careers Strategies Conference, which will be held in Atlanta, Georgia at the Hyatt Regency Downtown Atlanta.
